

PIHAMA, Leonie

International Research Institute for Maori and Indigenous Education

Auckland University

New Zealand

Kaupapa Maori Theory: Indigenous Analysis for Change

This paper will discuss Kaupapa Maori Theory as a means of analysis that is grounded within the affirmation and revitalisation of te reo and tikanga Maori. Kaupapa Maori has been a driving force behind significant changes in Maori society and as such is an Indigenous framework through which we can provide analysis and theoretical understandings that challenge dominant existing western frameworks.